

The Weather and the City.

During the present season a heavy rain has fallen in this city, unparalleled in the memory of even that venerable individual known as "Old Man" the oldest inhabitant. As a result, the hearts of the people are made to rejoice, and the gardens, fields and pastures literally "blossom as the rose." Irrigating ditches are at a discount, and the much-talked-of enterprise known as the West Jordan Canal is, for the present at least, a useless institution.

Viewed from the "Dench," the city presents one of the prettiest pictures imaginable. The dark green of the tops of thousands of fruit and shade trees which line the streets and convert the homesteads and gardens into miniature forests, presents a pleasing contrast with the unpretentious adobe buildings half hidden beneath the foliage.

We have resided here for a number of years; have admired the beauty of the salinity city in summer, and grumbled at its dingy, dreary desolation in winter, but never before have we seen it so charmingly beautiful as it is at the present writing. Of course it is all owing to the regenerating influence of the bountiful rains.

Pahranagat Silver Mines in Nevada.

The following details respecting a new incorporation for working renowned silver lodes in Nevada will without doubt be read with interest. The plan proposed by the "International Pahranagat Silver Mining Company" is one stamped with honest and legitimate propositions, and cannot fail for want of success. Sufficient information has reached us to warrant our belief in the extraordinary existence of metallic wealth in that district. As an incentive for those disposed to invest in mining enterprises, none present better terms or more certainty for a speedy return of the capital invested, and with large dividends for time to come.

The International Silver Mining Company is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New York, with a capital of five million dollars, represented by shares of one hundred dollars each.

The property of the Company consists of the following named thirty-one silver lodes, which amount to seventy-five thousand lineal feet, situated in the Pahranagat Lake Mining District, State of Nevada:

Apollo, 2,000; Gibraltar, 4,000; Manich, 4,000; Texas, 4,000; Inca, 4,000; Camanche, 4,000; Osceola, 4,000; Xelna, 4,000; Vesuvius, 4,000; Quebec, 4,000; Waverly, 4,000; Lisbon, 4,000; Ottawa, 4,000; Braganza, 4,000; Rainbow, 2,000; Cliff, 2,000; Salmon, 1,200; Logan, 1,200; Acton, 1,200; Volcano, 1,200; Morgan, 1,600; Iona, 1,200; Rail Splitter, 1,300; Sherwood, 1,200; Millipolis, 800; Ohio, 1,200; Moroso, 1,200; Verdun, 1,200; Humboldt, 1,200; Western, 200. Total, 75,000 feet.

It is believed by the officers of this Company that no organization has hitherto controlled so large or valuable a property, and that its full development will produce results not before approximated in silver or other mining.

GLORIOUS NEWS FROM THE MOUNTAINS.—Capt. Tyler, who has just arrived from the mountains, brings intelligence to us that will prove equally hope-inspiring to every citizen of Colorado.

He says the mills are all, or nearly all, preparing to start up, and he feels quite confident that four times the amount of gold will be taken out this season, than has been done in any one of the three years last past. Miners have entirely ceased bonding their property, and everybody is working at making developments, while instead of talking about bonds and sales of claims, the conversation is about "weekly returns," rich yields, depth of shafts, &c.

In spite of Craftiness and the refusal of admission for our new State, in spite of the malicious plots and designs of these enemies of the Territory, who under a guise of friendship, are throwing every obstacle in the way of her progress, Colorado is bound to come up, and her claims to a name and place in the Union, should this development of her mine continue, as it doubtless will, unless mischievous and tyrannical legislation prevents, shall be upheld with arguments of wealth, power and influence. That A. Johnson and all other political schemers are not content or disengaged. Denver News.

MORE ABOUT MORMONISM.—POLYGRAPH SHROUDED OFFERED AT SALT LAKE.—The Daily Union-Vedette, an anti-Mormon journal, published in Great Salt Lake City, and which has been evidently the work of Brigham Young and his infernal Danite Band, before its eyes, continues to pour hot shot into the benighted synagogues of Satan at that place in a manner which is doing much execution. If the United States authorities protect it, as they ought to do, it will ere long make the benighted infernal lower his crest, and insure at length such an influx of respectable emigrants as will fit the Territory to become a State. Louisville Journal.

FROM PAHRANAGAT.—Yesterday we received a flying visit from ex-Lieut. R. D. Pike, now one of "ye honest miners" of Pahranagat. He represents everything flourishing in that region. Mr. Mills, Frank Gilbert and many other parties are hard at work on their lodes, and several mills are in process of erection. Gov. Blaisdel, of Nevada, was very favorably impressed with the mines, and is now looking out a new route from them to Nevada via Silver Peak, by which the distance can be shortened. Lieut. Pike came up via Esplanade Canyon in his days, the quickest trip ever made. He drove all the way, and did not get a single hair on his head, and he says that the route, as there is no road, that way they may other.

GENERAL NEWS.

Chicago, June 1.—The Fenian invasion of Canada has been reported as having been successful. The Fenians, it is said, have taken possession of the city of Montreal, and are now preparing to march on to Quebec. The Fenians, it is said, have taken possession of the city of Montreal, and are now preparing to march on to Quebec.

The troops comprise volunteers from the West and Southwest. The crossing was effected by steam tugs and cable boats.

Great excitement exists in Buffalo and Canada West.

The reports indicate a movement of Fenians from Buffalo, Rochester and other lake points, on a large scale, to join the forces in Canada.

Reports also indicate that large bodies of Fenians are at St. Albans and points along the St. Lawrence river, threatening a similar invasion.

Reinforcements are moving from Boston and New York, and the Eastern States to assist Gen. Sweeney.

This Fenian army of invasion is under the auspices of Roberts and in defiance of organizer Stephens, whose counsel they reject.

Dispatches from Toronto represent a preparation of the military to punish the invaders.

The Canadian government has taken possession of the railroads and telegraphs, and having a large force of well-organized militia at command, besides the regular troops, will make short work of this invasion.

United States troops from the east and west are being sent in detachments to the border, sufficient, it is hoped, to prevent a further breach of neutrality.

Execution of Stone and Foster.

Denver, May 24.

Friend Hollister.—Through the kindness of Sheriff Sopris, your reporter was enabled to be a witness to the closing scenes in the lives of these two men, justly convicted by a jury of their peers, and as guilty suffer death, for the crime of murder.

At 1 P. M. the condemned were conducted to a close carriage, followed by another containing the clergy who officiated on this occasion. A third carriage containing the representatives of the press.

On arriving at the gallows, situated near Cherry Creek on the road to the gray yard, the prisoners mounted the scaffold, giving no sign whatever of fear or dread.

A portion of the Scriptures was then read by the Rev. Mr. Clark, followed by a few verses of that solemn hymn, "Rock of Ages."

Questions were then asked of Foster by his spiritual adviser (Rev. Mr. Clark). The last appeal to the mercy of God for the souls of the condemned was then made by Rev. Mr. Potter.

U. S. Marshal A. C. Hunt read the death warrant, and nothing remained but the farewell of the friends of the doomed men. The ropes were adjusted, their arms and feet pinioned, and the fatal black cap placed over their heads, and at 1:34 P. M. the drop was let fall, and Stone and Foster were hanging in mid-air.

At nine minutes to 2, after hanging 12 minutes, both were pronounced dead and were cut down. Their bodies were placed in the coffins already prepared, and at once taken to the grave yard.

It is estimated that nearly two thousand persons were on the ground at the time, a number of whom were women. Perfect order prevailed, not a word or gesture being uttered to mar the awful solemnity of the hour.

Previous to his death, Foster confessed to the murder of a man at Dillon, in Missouri. He said his victim had been pointed out to him as a rebel. He fired five shots at him, two of which took effect. The man was apparently 35 years old and was dressed in citizen's clothes.

About 12 o'clock this noon Phil Smith, a stage driver, shot Anna McMahon, a lager beer girl, and, after attempting in vain to escape, killed himself. They have lived together for a year and had frequent quarrels. To-day he visited her room, corner of Kearney and Broadway, where they had some conversation, and both went into the hall. He then pulled out a four-shot revolver and shot her twice, one ball entering the left temple, glancing downwards and lodging under the eye, and the other entering the left side of her neck, crossing the chest and lodging in the right shoulder. Her wounds are not necessarily fatal. He then attempted to escape across the tops of the houses in the vicinity, but, upon being cornered by the police, blew his brains out and died soon after.
